5.2 The Organiser is committed on maintaining the confidentiality of the registrant's personal information in accordance to the Personal Data Protection Act 2010 and undertakes not to reveal any of the information to any third party unless it is strictly for the abovementioned purpose. Except for legal regulatory and compliance purposes, in the event any unavoidable circumstance arises where the Organiser would be required to reveal any of the registrant's personal information, the Organiser shall obtain consent from the registrant for such revelation.

5.3 When the registrant views this website, the web server may store some data on the computer in the form of a "cookie". If the registrant does not wish to receive cookies, please configure the Internet browser to erase all cookies from the computer's hard drive, block all cookies or to receive a warning before a cookie is stored. If the registrant does not accept cookies, however, the registrant may not be able to use all aspects of this website. Cookies placed on the device may remain stored on the computer or mobile device until they are removed.

5.4 The Organiser holds the right to retain the personal information collected from the registrant as long as necessary or for legal regulatory requirements, accounting requirements or for the purpose of protecting the interests of the Organiser.

5.5 This website has security measures in place to protect the loss, misuse and alteration of the information under the Organiser's control. For the Internet, unfortunately, no data transmission over the Internet can be guaranteed as completely secure. So while the Organiser strives to protect such personal information, the Organiser is unable to ensure or warrant the security of any personal information transmitted to the Organiser and individuals do so at their own risk. Once any personal information comes into the organiser's possession, the Organiser will take reasonable steps to protect that information from misuse and loss from unauthorized access, modification or disclosure.

5.6 The registrants have the right to access their personal information hold by the Organiser and may request correction for inaccurate, incomplete or misleading data. If the registrants have any questions regarding this Clause or if the registrants wish to request access to their personal information or if the registrants wish to correct their personal information or if the registrants wish to withdraw their consent to the Organiser for the processing of their personal information, they may contact the Organiser at the contact details provided under Clause 1 of this Terms and Conditions.

6. Intellectual Property

The contents of and materials provided as part of the Event are the intellectual property of the Organiser and are for the registrants' personal, educational and non-commercial use only. Unless the registrants have obtained the Organiser's prior written consent, the registrants shall not disseminate, redistribute or reproduce the contents and/or materials in any format nor shall the registrants be permitted or enable a third party to do any of these acts on their behalf.

7. Indemnity

The Organiser will not be liable for any injury, damage or loss arising out of or in connection to the Event, and the registrant agree to indemnify and hold the Organiser harmless to the fullest extent permitted by law, from and against any and all claims, loss or damages incurred by the registrant during the Event.

8. Cancellation

8.1 The Organiser may in its sole and absolute discretion cancel the Event at any time before or during the conduct of the Event and if that occurs, the registrants shall have no claim for damages or loss of any kind against the Organiser.

8.2 In the event of cancellation, the registrants will be notified.

9. Variation

The Organiser reserves the right to vary the terms and conditions of the Event at any time at its absolute discretion.
